

Layered containment converts model output into bounded action

